

BIOGRAPHY

LIEUTENANT MEGEN M. GOLD

Lieutenant Megen M. Gold currently serves as a Staff Attorney in the Prevention Law Division at Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Her responsibilities include providing legal advice on Prevention-related matters and authorities to the Assistant Commandant for Prevention Policy, as well as to Coast Guard Headquarters programs and District staffs.

Lieutenant Gold joined the Coast Guard as a Direct Commission Lawyer. Prior to this assignment, she practiced maritime law and appellate law in Miami, Florida, from May 2017 to June 2019. She is licensed to practice in the State of Florida and is licensed in the federal courts of the Middle District of Florida and the Southern District of Florida. She is also licensed to practice in Washington, D.C.

Lieutenant Gold graduated from the University of Central Florida, with a B.S. in Criminal Justice. She received a Juris Doctor and Certificate of Admiralty & Maritime Law from Tulane University Law School in 2015. She obtained a LL.M. in Maritime Law from the University of Southampton Law School in England in 2016.

Lieutenant Gold resides in Washington, D.C. Her hobbies include golfing, boating and photography.